THE Morwell Advertiser
WITH WHICH IS INCORPORATED
The Morwell and Yinnar Gazette

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 1st. 1938

Mrs McKee, of Melbourne, returned home on Tuesday evening, after spending a holiday in Mirboo.

The Moderator General—Rev. K.
Forster—will conduct the evening service at Morwell Presbyterian Church, on Sunday next.

Steady rain set in early yesterday,
and during the afternoon there was a very heavy shower accompanied by hail.

In consequent of the steady progress of Morwell, business at the local Bank of Australasia has increased to such an extent that it has been found necessary to increase the staff. The latest addition has been Mr L. R.
Hooper, who hails from Wedderburn.

A Prolific Cow

"Minnie," a pure bred Jersey cow,
owned by Mr P. H. Chitty, of Jumbuk, has for the past 16 years, given birth to a calf annually. Her sixteenth offspring arrived last week and "both are doing well." "Minnie" still has a good mouth and is one of the most prolific producers of Mr Chitty's herd.
Last season she had an attack of milk fever, but after treatment, recovered, and like "Johnny Walker" is still going strong. We would like to hear if any cow can beat "Minnie's" record.

THE golden wedding anniversary of Lou and Leila Bond, pictured at left, was celebrated at Farnham Court Restaurant in Mor-
well on Saturday night.
The party was attended by about 30 members of the Bond family.

Mr and Mrs Bond were married in 1934 in the old Presbyterian Church in Elgin St., Morwell. The couple are both from the Latrobe Valley originally,
with Mr Bond a member of a large farming family
from Driffield, and Mrs Bond the daughter of the late Mr D. J. White and Mrs White from Hazelwood.

Mr Bond arrived in Morwell at the age of 22, and had a carrying business here for 25 years. He and Mrs Bond's first home was on the site recently occupied by Kelly Bros Motors. The Bonds now live in Hoyle St.

Mr Bond was a Morwell
shire councillor for 32 years.

Walking Tour 1

Commences at the Post Office

- 1. Ryans Hotel
Classified by the National Trust. Built in 1914 on the site of Duncan Campbell's Travelers Rest Hotel. Traralgon's first hotel built in 1858
- 2. Traralgon Post Office and Court House
Built in 1887. Also classified by the National Trust.
- 3. The Bus Stand
Outside the Plaza is the approximate site of the first Shire Hall, built in 1881. It served as the Council Chambers until 1926, then the office of the Waterworks Trust until 1959. It then became home to our elderly citizens until it was demolished in the late 1970's
- 4. Trickey's
Oswald Marriage built his store here in 1872. In 1908 the Gippsland Trading Company erected a building with an imposing tower. Over the years it has been occupied by traders, such as Patersons Pty Ltd, Clausens, CIG and more recently Magnum Video
- 5. Florist Shop
Originally the Rubicon Hotel
- 6. SEC Gippsland Office
Site of Edward Kaye's second Star Hotel, a two storied building. The Argyle Lodge met upstairs and it was known as the Masonic Hall
- 7. Opposite
Richard Mackay, an adventurer/estate agent and businessman conducted the Traralgon Club and Coffee Palace
- 8. Wesley Church
Behind it the original church is still used as a hall. Here in 1848 Thomas Windsor erected his home. Until Duncan Campbell built the Travellers Rest, Windsor's House provided the only accommodation in the vicinity of Hobson's run
- 9. Mill Street
This led to Peterkan's Mill. It was situated behind the area of the elderly Citizens Club building, where great red gums logs were cut into scantling and blocks to build the homes and streets of Melbourne
- 10. Crossing Seymour Street to Livingstone Street
Crossing Seymour Street and proceeding through Livingstone Street we approach the site of the first permanent baths, now a car park. Before this, the only place to swim was in two large holes in the creek, one in the vicinity of the Shakespeare Street bridge, and the other behind Agnes Brereton Park.
- 11. The Grand Junction Hotel
The original building was erected by E. C. Miller in 1884. Built from local bricks, its first licensee was a flamboyant character, Cornelius Neville. He had ran a hotel in Waihalla prior to coming to Traralgon. Later he conducted the Grand Terminus Hotel in Baimsdale. The Junction Hotel enjoyed vice regal patronage on at least two occasions in its early history. The most notable was probably that of the visit of the Earl of Hoptown in 1894, the then Governor of Victoria. He was to eventually become the first Governor General of Australia. Until recently the hotel was, for many years, owned by the McGauran family

- 12. Service Station
Cobbledicks Building, erected about 1908, stood here until the early 1960's. It was an imposing two storied structure and the home for many businesses over the years
- 13. Opportunity Shop
Formerly Layton's Building, these premises were for years Traralgon's most prominent general store. From the early 1900's to the early 1930's it was conducted by Layton Bros and then by the W. A. Purvis Stores. Later it became a furniture emporium. In the section adjoining the Hotel, A. A. Errington conducted a ladies store for many years
- 14. ANZ Banking Group
Formerly The Bank of Australasia
- 15. Keith Williams Estate Agency
Formerly the site of the Club Hotel built by Geo Hickox in 1876. It was delicensed in the 1930's. James Rogers built a furniture store on the site and further along in Hotham Street, at number 16, a hay and corn store
- 17. AMP Building
Site of the first Mechanics Institute. It later became an emporium, ladies hairdresser and milliner
- 18. Site of State Savings Bank of Victoria
- 19. State Offices
Site of the second Mechanics Institute built in 1884 and the Town Hall built in 1925. In the 1930's and 40's magnificent balls were conducted in the Town Hall, with people travelling from all over Gippsland to attend
- 20. Roland Building
Today a shopping and office complex. Over the years a livery stable, coach works and motor garage have occupied this site. The present building is named after a former owner, the late Mr Roland Hill, who for many years conducted the local GMH dealership as well as being a prominent citizen of the town
- 21. Carnival Area
Here in the 1930's and 40's the carnivals would set up with their 'Housy Housy', lucky envelopes, merry-go-rounds, etc
- 22. First Baptist Church
On north west corner opposite Wight's Nissan
- 23. Second Masonic Lodge
Portion of the second Masonic Lodge is still visible. The Lodge now occupies the premises built by GLV10, Gippsland's first TV Station
- 24. Billy Guyatts
Here in 1879/80 Thomas Moorhouse, a Church of England Lay Preacher, with the help of others, notably William Whittakers, erected the first St James Church. This remarkable man, who until his arrival in 1879 had never been on horseback, rode all over the district bringing his faith and encouragement to the struggling settlers. In 1925 the original building was replaced by a brick structure. In 1970 the site was sold to C. J. Coles and a New World Supermarket was erected on the site. In 1985 it was sold to Billy Guyatts. The first St James Church was erected in Grey Street Traralgon. It incorporates a beautiful stained glass window from the old church
- 25. Car Park
The St James Hall and tennis courts were situated here

- 26. St Andrews
Erected in 1914, it is the second church. The first was situated on the corner of Peterkan and Gwalia Streets
- 27. St Michaels
First erected in 1883, it was rebuilt in 1936 and enlarged in 1978, when the beautiful stained glass windows were added
- 28. Memorial Elms
Estimated time 60 minutes
- Heritage Drive
- 29. Traralgon Post Office and Court House (1886)
- 30. Site of Shire Hall (1881) was Traralgon's first public building
- 31. Fire Station (1921), an earlier station was situated near the railway station. Traralgon City Plaza now on site 30 and 31
- 32. Saleyards of Little & Co where today is sited Traralgon Civic Centre and City Offices
- 33. Chinamen's Market Gardens on Traralgon Creek, now sports playing fields.
- 34. Traralgon Park Homestead, Land surrounding now much reduced in size but one of the earlier Runs in the district
- 35. Cumnock Private Hospital
- 36. New St James Church, A beautiful stained glass window from the old church has been incorporated
- 37. Water Tower, source of water supply early 1900's
- 38. Nurse Millar's Private Hospital in Henry Street
- 39. Mary Grant-Bruce, the famous author of the Billabong Books lived here. Her parents lived one street down
- 40. Site of Traralgon Bowling and Croquet Clubs, now shopping complex
- 41. Site of Brick Works and Clay Pit, now Duncan Cameron Reserve
- 42. Traralgon Special Development School originally known as 'Coonda Hill'
- 43. Original Railway Reservoir and Water Supply. This area also Shire Pound and early Town Tip. A favourite spot for children, known as 'Kickhorse Canyon'. It is proposed site for Botanical Gardens
- 44. 'Dalkeith' Memorial Home for Elderly Citizens was bequeathed to the City in memory of Grace Bruce, wife of Mr W. M. Bruce
- 45. 'Ewington' was also a private hospital in 1920's and 1930's
- 46. Cordial Factory Bridge derived from the Cordial Factory once situated here
- 47. Traralgon Recreation Reserve and Showgrounds, Agricultural Society formed in 1885 and Traralgon Football Club in 1881
- 48. Traralgon High School built after old premises in Grey Street became overcrowded
- 49. Homestead site of Leah Liddiard, a pioneer of renown in this district

- 50. Site of first school building, now a Nursing Home

L.C. Speaks on Pulp Mill

Company Has Done All Expected

THE course of a long address in the Legislative Council, Mr. J. M. M.L.C., recently touched on subjects which directly concern and included in the questions asked to were Erosion, Gippsland and the Wood Pulp Mill.

With the Pulp Mill, Mr. Bal-

aid: With regard to the position of the Australian Paper Manufacturers Association, I may say that the company has done all that was expected from it under the agreement. It has fulfilled all the obligations entered into with the Minister of Lands and the Forests Commission. The company has deposited in the treasury the sum of £100,000, and is rapidly completing negotiations with a view to debiting a further sum of £25,000, specified in the agreement.

April this year the company is a prospectus relating to 1,000,000 shares, cumulative preference shares of £1 each, and 600,000 of those were taken by the company's shareholders, associated companies, and the officers and members of its staffs.

The prospectus, copies of which I stand at are available, it is shown the money to be raised would be connected with the new operation of the mill in Gippsland, and approximately £600,000 would be for the pulp mill.

Recently the Board of Directors has decided the designing, ordering, and erection of a new modern paper mill, with an ultimate capacity of 100,000 tons of pulp annually.

The machine is to cost £400,000 and the company is now considering where it should be established in Gippsland or Gippsland. We hope that it will be erected in Gippsland. It will be the development of the original plan for a pulp mill into a paper manufacturing mill. This will be of interest to the people of Victoria, particularly to those residents in Gippsland. Already the company has invited tenders for the timber necessary, and is distributing a large amount of work among the hauliers and people living in the district. The company has been in close co-operation with the different government departments, and also with the shires of Morwell and Traralgon. Already roads have been cut through its property, and a commencement is being made in the building of 4 miles of railway. The company has acquired land at Morwell and Traralgon in order to give its permanent employees sites for residences, and it will assist them to obtain beautiful homes under the "Fondler" system or some other scheme. Sir Herbert Gepp, the manager,

No Sunday Train at Present

MATTER TO BE RECEIVED NEXT SUMMER

WHEN MR. Clapp was at Traralgon, he was asked to extend the Sunday train which now terminates at Moe, to Traralgon. Said the chief of the "iron horse": "Give me some concrete facts of business offering and the commissioners will consider the question." At Morwell a similar request met a similar answer.

Councillor A. L. Hare, of Morwell, who has been interesting himself in the matter has now received the following reply from the secretary for Railways, following still further consideration after Mr. Clapp's verbal reply:—

"Adverting to your request that the Sunday train which at present terminates at Moe be extended to Traralgon, I desire to inform you that the matter has been carefully considered, but exhaustive inquiries clearly indicate that the prospective patronage would not be sufficient to defray the extra expenditure involved.

"In the circumstances, the commissioners regret the desired extension cannot be agreed to at this juncture. The matter will, however, be further reviewed prior to the next summer season, when the weather conditions will be more conducive to day excursion traffic."

So, at least there is still hope in the future.

A Serious State of Affairs

17 OFFICERS SAID TO HAVE LEFT

Since 1935, wrote the Yarrowong and Border Agricultural and Pastoral Association to the Traralgon society at its annual meeting on Friday, seventeen experienced officers have left the department to take up positions with private concerns. This was a very serious state of affairs and one that should be remedied immediately. To the man on the land the department is of the utmost importance and nothing should be permitted that will in any affect its efficiency.

THE Yarrowong Association further asked for support in the matter so that a strong delegation could be formed to wait on the Premier on a day to be fixed during Melbourne show week. It was also suggested that the assistance of the Parliamentary representative be sought.

Councillor Henderson opened the discussion by asking if the complaint was because the officers of the department were leaving to take up other lines, and wanted to know if it was true.

Mr. T. Y. Anderson said it was quite right. Private concerns came along and offered better inducements. The most brilliant technologists at the university were not getting a salary commensurate with their knowledge. He instanced what had happened in the case of the Sunny South butter factories group.

Mr. Henderson: It is a very unfortunate thing. It was not right that these officers should be leaving on account of salaries.

Mr. Anderson: The government is not paying enough. If a man was only getting £5 a week and someone comes along and offers £8 his is certainly "off."

On the motion of Messrs H. Jones and Mr. Dunbar, it was agreed that the Yarrowong Association be strongly supported in their effort to avert the loss of experienced officers by the department.

Personal

Mr Walter West, Taranaki Shire Secretary, is confined to his bed, suffering from a bad leg. It will be necessary for Mr West to remain quiet for some little time. All his friends will wish him a speedy recovery.

The many old friends of Mr Robt. Dickson, who for many years was Head Master of Morwell State School, will regret to learn of his death, which occurred on Friday last, at Albert Park. Deceased was an excellent townsman, and on his departure from Morwell some years ago was presented with tokens of esteem from various bodies with which he was associated, and also from school children. He leaves two sons and two married daughters to mourn their loss.

Charge Dismissed.

At the Morwell Court of Petty Sessions, on Tuesday last, before Messrs E. L. Vary and W. Applegate, J.P.'s, the charge against Clarence Edwards of being in possession of motor car head lights believed to have been stolen, was dismissed.

Big Winter Sale

Shafte Bros. are holding a great winter sale, commencing today, and continuing for fourteen days. They also announce their intention of continuing business in Morwell. See special advt. for prices, etc.

Red Cross Concert

Attention is directed to grand concert in aid of Morwell Red Cross Society, to be given in local Mechanics' Hall, on Wednesday evening next, 4th inst. by the Morwell Choral Society. A splendid program is to be submitted and as the object is a most deserving one, there should be a large attendance.

"Vivienne Nights"

What is beauty? To some kind eyes: to others, perfection of form and colour. But to all the world alike, young and old, Love is the ultimate beauty! Vivienne Nights is heavy. Passionately tender, full of a love that defied time-faded darkness with song—and in giving it found and kept the beauty that is a joy forever. It's a joy to see—no honor to present.

Also showing "The Naughty Flirt," a fast stepping comedy drama.

Don't miss this wonderful little program to be screened at Morwell Mechanics' Hall, on Friday and Saturday, 1st and 2nd July.

Service of Song

Lovers of singing are promised a treat at the "Service of Song" which is to be held in the Presbyterian Church, Morwell, on Sunday evening, 4th inst. From 6.45 to 7 p.m. an organ recital will be rendered by Mr J. Galloway. A large augmented choir will render special anthems. Mr and Mrs McKenzie will sing and also sing a duet. Old and familiar hymns are to be sung by the congregation. The Rev Verity is to give an address on the question:—Why do people sing?

St. Mary's Ball

The grand ball held in Veroed Mechanics' Hall, on Thursday night last, in aid of St. Mary's Church fund, was a most enjoyable function, as well as a financial success. The hall was tastefully decorated for the occasion, and a hostess was the many charming dances of various hues, worn by the ladies. Excellent music was provided by the "Gloomchamps" Orchestra and the program included modern and old time dances, which were beautifully indulged in. During the evening supper was partaken of in the Lodge Room, and this was kept going happily till well after midnight. Mrs H. C. Hare and Mr E. W. Daymer, who as joint Secretaries, left nothing to be desired, and in their efforts they were assisted by a capable committee.

Cold Snap

During the past week, severe weather has been experienced. About three inches of snow, which on top of previous downpours, was responsible for further rising of streams and flooding of paddocks. There were also snow in the hills and the atmosphere was at times, bitter cold. On Sunday last some young folk went from Morwell to the snow where they had a great time. Since then there have been severe frosts, followed by few days.

Yearning still for Yallourn

TONIGHT'S performance of Yallourn Story' holds special significance for Amy Tibballs, who lived half her life in the mining town which made the supreme sacrifice for progress.

The 80-year-old holds no bitter feelings towards the SEC; in fact, she speaks highly of its treatment of her.

"I reluctantly accepted Yallourn's fate," Amy said, her youthful eyes misting over as she remembers the "little house at 17 Meadow Lane" she called home for 40 years.

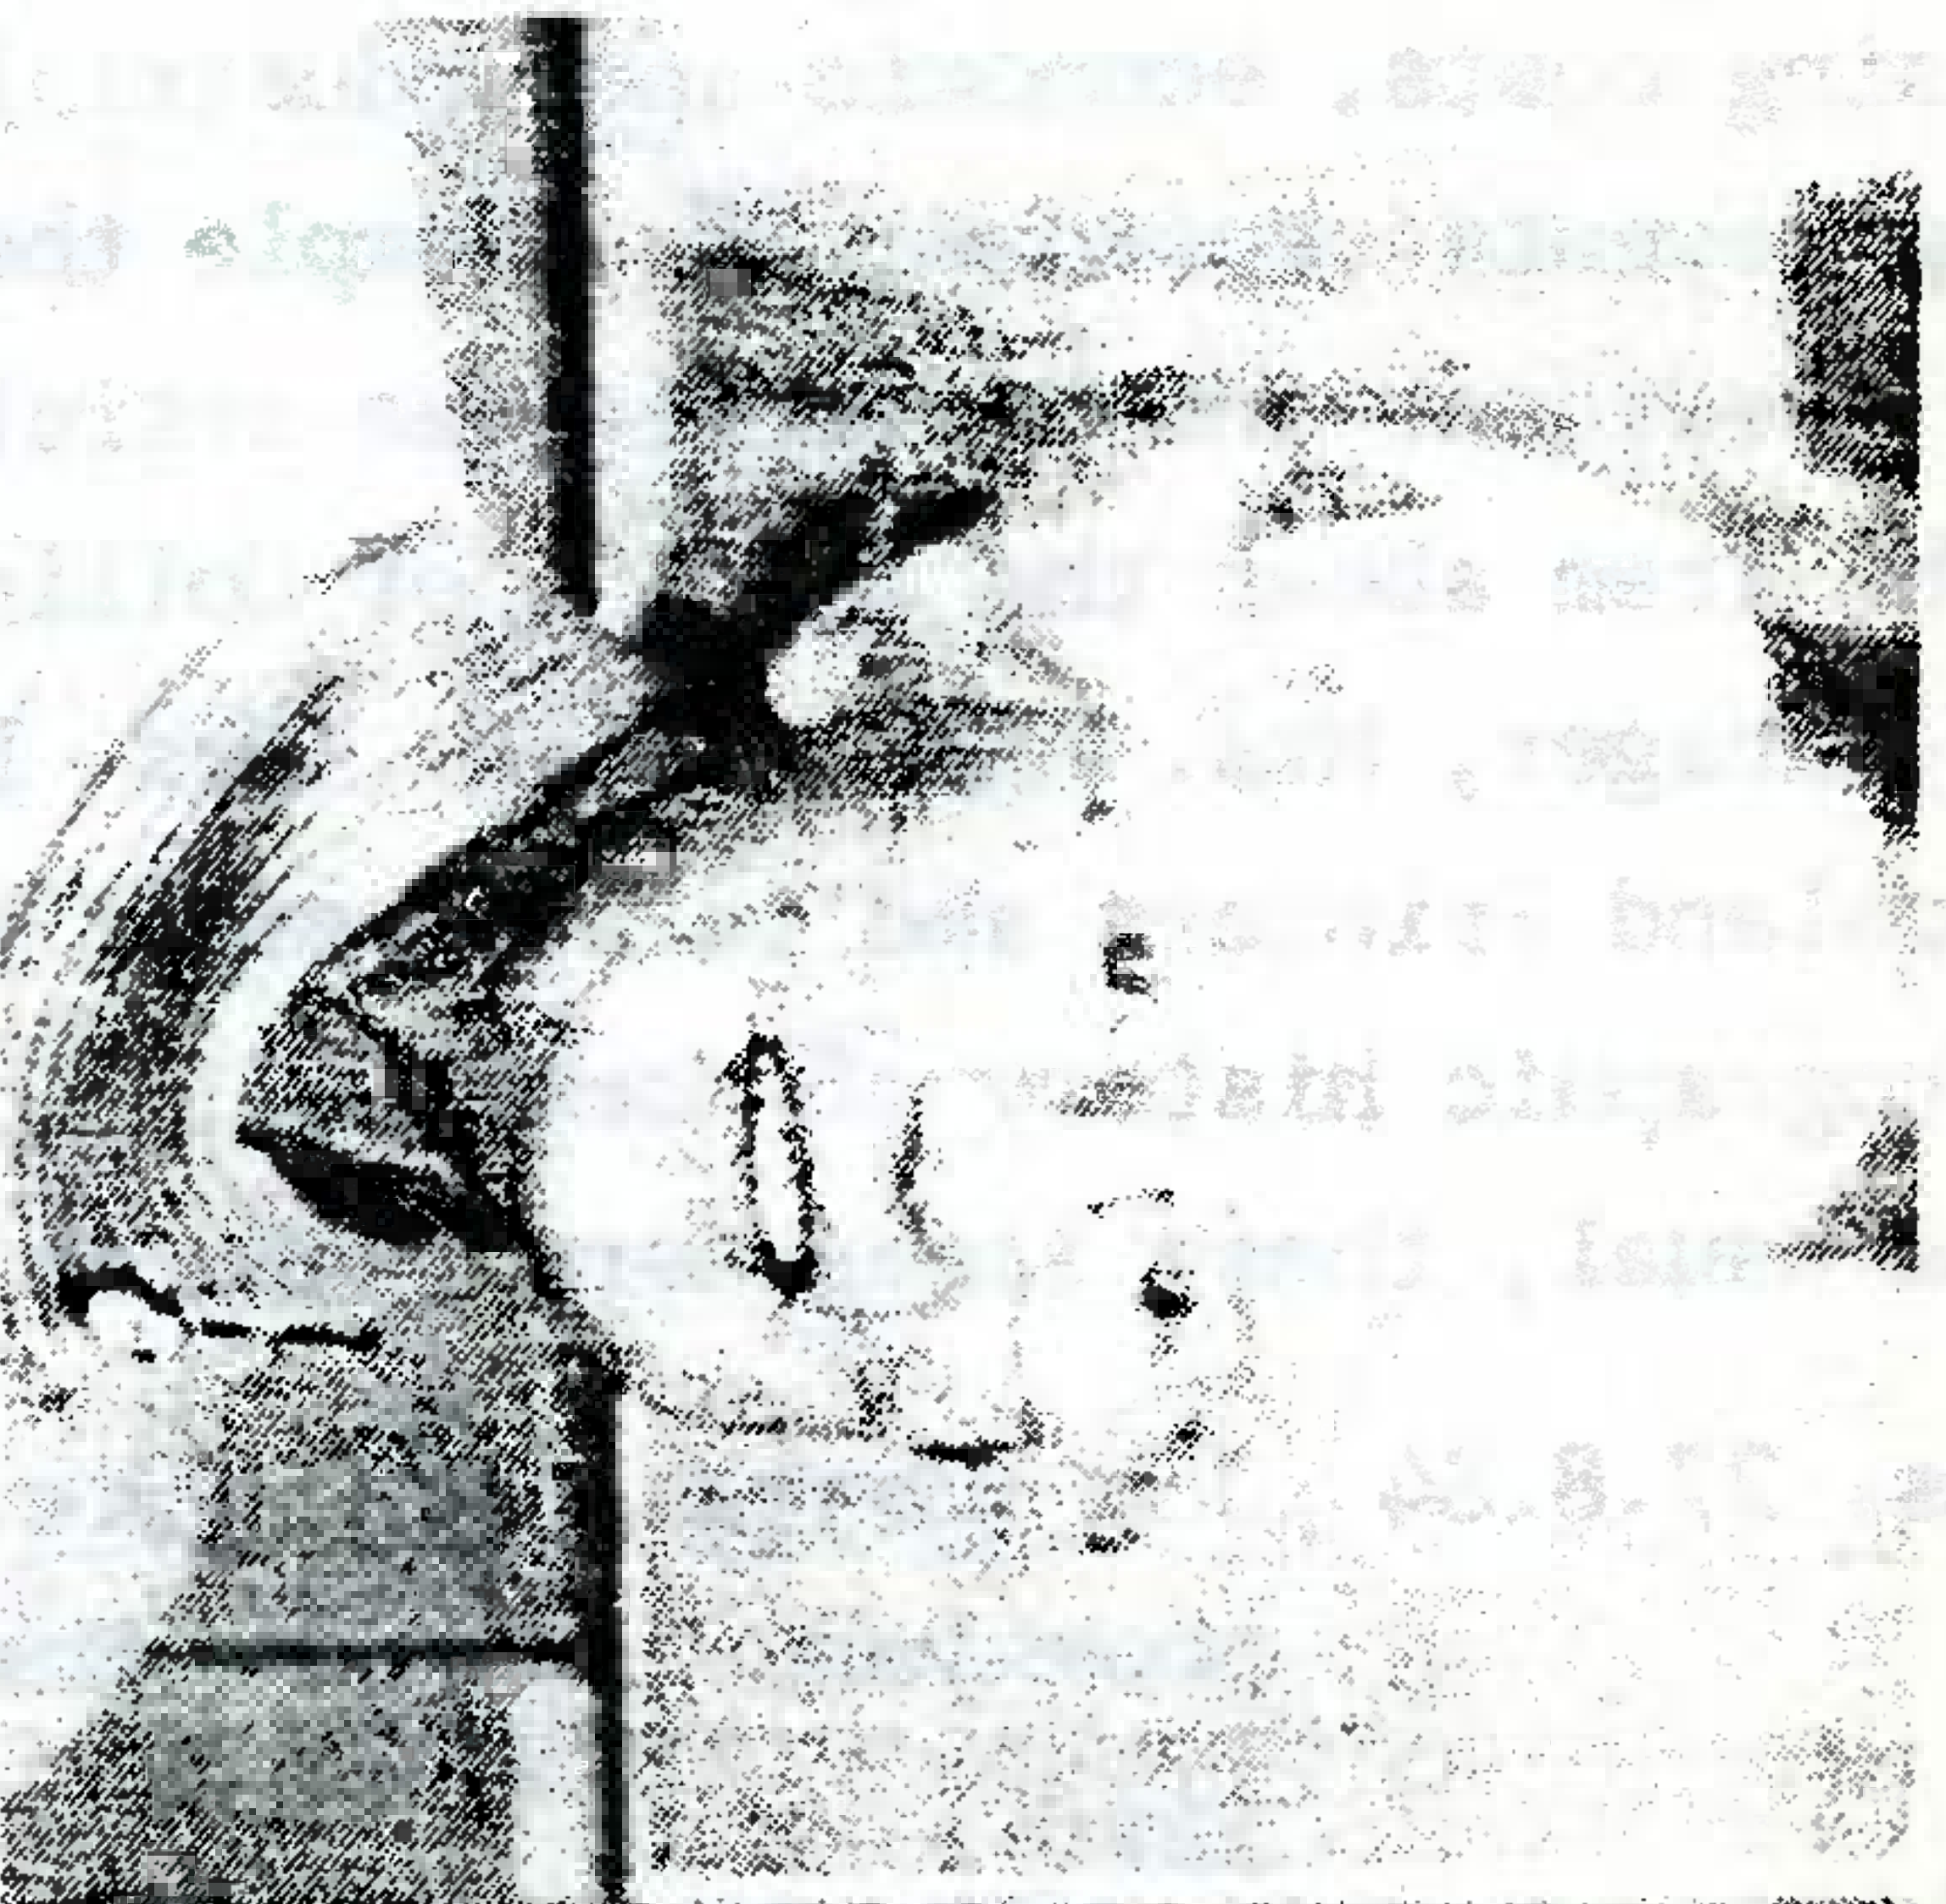

"Yallourn was a very special sort of mining town," Amy said - and she should know, having lived in mining areas all her life. Born in Kalgoorlie, Western Australia, on 18 May, 1909, Amy and her family moved to Victoria when she was eight-years-old, after her mother died. Her family finally settled in Morwell when she was 10 "and I have lived most of my life in the area".

Amy loved her school years in Morwell, and her admiration for the teachers "especially Kathleen Kintoul" led her into a teaching career.

"Schools were different in those days, we were so much more accepting of routine," she remembers. But she did not condone some of the practices of the day: "I never rapped knuckles of left-handers," she said.

Starting as a student teacher at the Great Morwell Coal Mine State School 3967, Amy spent five years at the two-room school before moving to Melbourne.

"I worked at Middle Park School for three years while I studied. I

By Rhonda Myring

hated working in the city and couldn't wait to come back to the country."

Amy had her wish and in 1939 returned here, where she taught for a year before marrying and moving to Yallourn.

Like most women of her era, Amy gave up her career to become a full-time housewife, but this didn't last long. In 1948 she was back to the 'drawing board', assisting in the Yallourn Kindergarten. "I wasn't a trained kindergarten teacher, so I went in as an assistant," she explained.

"Yallourn was a very big kindergarten. It was the only 'double unit' kindergarten in the country." Amy explained that a 'double unit' kinder had two classrooms where separate classes were held for five-year-olds and four-year-olds. "We were the first kinder in the country to experiment with holding classes for four-year-olds and it was quite successful.

"Because the four-year-old classes were held in the afternoon, the authorities were worried about the children missing out on their nap. But most of them managed. Some children needed a sleep in the afternoon, but mostly they could stay awake for the afternoon sessions," she said.

From Yallourn, Amy was appointed directress of the new Brown Coal Kindergarten, which she said was a great thrill. "I was teaching the children of the children I had taught at school when I first started student teaching," Amy recalled.

After four years at Brown Coal Mine, she taught at Morwell Baptist Kindergarten and then returned again to Yallourn, where she worked for another five years before retiring with her husband to Inverloch in 1975.

"I was pleased to leave Yallourn before people were being forced out. I could still cry when I think of it," she said.

"Yallourn was different: it was systematically developed; it didn't grow up higgledy-piggledy. There was a kinship that isn't present in a new suburb of Melbourne.

"The situation in Yallourn brought people together, everyone came there for the same reason - to work - and this created a bond which I haven't seen in any other town of its type.

"I don't know how I would have endured seeing my home being taken away," she admitted, but added that she was pleased to see her "little home is happy again" - it was bought by a young couple and transported to Hazelwood. Amy learned her home had been relocated when she returned to the Valley to live in Orana Village.

"I made the right choice coming back to the Valley," she said, citing a long list of interests which includes playing the piano and local history.

Despite losing the home she loved so dearly, Amy believes she is "one of the luckiest people in the area because of the lovely friends" she has accumulated in her many years of teaching.

MORWELL AND DISTRICT

The 1980s

Some of the items below reflect the growing concern over such issues as job losses, housing costs, economic and industrial troubles etc. However there are still some happy events recorded. For example there is the Golden Wedding anniversary of our President and his wife. (See article reprinted in this newsletter).

The item about the opening of Collins' book store has interest for us because of its manager, Mrs. Agnes Drenen. Mrs. Drenen's husband is the General Manager of Gippsland Printers and is at present helping us with the preparation of our photographic history of Morwell.

As usual, these items were found in "Express" papers- dates shown on the left.

- Tues. 27.8.84 Job losses start - Vic. Chamber of Commerce concerned - A.P.M.
poor year - A.P.M's Maryvale mill barely broke even last financial year.
- Thurs. 6.9.84 Probus Club for Morwell? Probus Clubs are for retired or semi-retired people. One aim is to create community awareness of their needs.
- Tues. 18.9.84 Railway stations facelifts - Morwell and Traralgon. Work to start Feb. 1985.
- Thurs. 27.9.84 Youth job loss is alarming - M.P's concern.
- Tues. 2.10.84 Mitchell House $250,000 short. Hostel cash crisis.
- Tues. 2.10.84 Ghost House lives on. (See Photo and article reprinted elsewhere).

- Tues. 9.10.84 Book launch of "Yallourn Was". This was a little like a reunion for everyone who had ever lived in the town.
- Thurs. 11.10.84 Mitchell House Hostel still battling for funds.
- Thurs. 1.11.84 Farmers revolt against Shire's decision to increase rates.
- Tues. 6.11.84 Shire may shed six councillors.
- Thurs. 20.12.84 Golden Wedding Anniversary of Lou and Leila Bond.

Mrs. Rodgers (nee Miss Jean Hunter) has once again contributed to our newsletter. One item from the Journal (Traralgon) of July 1937 tells of her marriage to Mr. Will Rodgers (the name should have a 'd'). Readers will remember the 1944 Voters' Roll which Jean loaned us. We printed the 385 names from this roll in 1985-6 newsletters starting from September 1985, in which issue we gave a little of the biography of Jean and her husband.

Some might also like to refer back to the newsletter of July 1986 (Vol.2, No.7) for Jean's reminiscences. The couple lived in Tarwin St. for the first few years of their marriage. Jean's present home in Wallace St. was built about 1940.

A Popular Young Lady

Largely Attended Kitchen Evening

THAT MISS Jean Hunter is one of Traralgon's most popular young lady, no one will deny. The large gathering of friends who assembled to wish her joy in the coming years was proof of that when on Thursday evening a very happy evening was spent in the Mechanics. Miss Hunter will be married to Mr. Will Rogers very shortly.

The evening was commenced with dancing to the melodious strains of Brother Andrews' orchestra. This was thoroughly enjoyed and continued throughout the evening with breaks for hearty community singing in which everyone joined.

led by Mr. Clarke, it is doubtful if ever the songsters of Traralgon have sung with greater glee at a community gathering. This portion was quite a highlight in the social fixture.

After a splendid supper had been served, Mr. E. Conchie made the formal presentation of the many gifts made to Miss Hunter for use in the future home. These were, indeed, a lovely lot, and covered an expansive range which would leave little or nothing required in any kitchen. Someone with the spirit of a good joke had even included a mousetrap!

Mr. Conchie referred to wonderful popularity of Miss Hunter, and her happy disposition. He also paid a tribute to her work at the Town Hall Talkies, and said she would be greatly missed. The speaker congratulated the young couple on the step they were about to take, and wished them every happiness in the future. His remarks were supported by Mr. Thompson.

"For They are Jolly Good Fellows" was sung in a spirit which conveyed a sincere feeling of the words in the message.

An addition to the pleasantness of the evening was the beautifully decorated hall. The decorations were loaned by the ladies' committee of the Catholic Ball, for which the hostesses were very grateful.

A euchre party was also held for non-dancers, and the prize was by Mrs. Stoner.

Tricking Reynard

A NOVEL METHOD.

One farmer, at least, in the Hazelwood district, goes in extensively for sheep. He is Mr. F. Bolding. Recently foxes have been worrying his flock.

THE SHEEPMAN has started out to fight Reynard with equal cunning to the fox itself. At various points in the paddocks at night he has hung lighted lanterns. The killers are wary, and thinking there may be a gun where the lights are posted, are much less bold in their depredations.

"WOULD HAVE BEEN 'HAD UP' FOR CRUELTY."

DURING THE discussion on railway freights at the last council meeting, Councillor Whateley made mention of the fact that pig sales were held on certain Mondays at Glengarry and Tinamba. The pigs sold at Glengarry in the morning were trucked to Traralgon, where later they were placed in the truck with those from Tinamba. At a recent sale his pigs were forwarded on, but another buyer's were left till the Wednesday. Had they done that sort of thing they would have been "had up" for cruelty. They all knew one buyer had his own transport on the roads. He did not know what happened, but after the above episode it was noticeable that another buyer had also transferred to road transport.

THE EARLY DAYS

Writing to Mr Walter West, of Traralgon, regarding certain incidents connected with Morwell and Traralgon in the early days, Mr A. S. Kent says:—

"You will remember Strzelecki's trip from Kooralla to Western Port occupying two weeks. Macarthur, one of his party with their blackboy, a man, after arrival in Melbourne, turned to Traralgon in a day and a half and rescued the abandoned horses. Following this route, Dr. Hobson, Herbert Eugene Brodribb, William Bennett and Hugh Reoch set out in August 1844. Dr. Hobson you know well. Brodribb was one of the pioneer family. From is. William A. E. all pioneers especially in Gippsland; William Bennett, brother-in-law of Brodribb (he stayed on at Hazelwood) till 1860; all others named on. Hugh Reoch with Thomas at Gin Gin Bend, Melbourne, and later Alton, Corin, etc. Hobson chose Traralgon, that or Traralgon was the name on the spot. After his death Sir, Edward, his brother, pioneer on east coast of Port Phillip, part with James Purves, father of J. Dromana and on his own at Vin Meadows, he'd Traralgon. Brodribb and Bennett picked Hazelwood where Bennett stayed 1860. Meanwhile Thomas Gore, another Dromana man (Bellar, Arthur's son) came along. He brought the first wheeled vehicle, a dray, into that part of Gippsland. Part of Hazelwood, named Hazelville after Mrs Bennett, had been cut off by Bennett, Brodribb, Reoch as a run for Dr. Jamieson, U.C., which adjoined Gin Gin but on Gore's arrival, June 1845, he was allowed to get it. See Meyrick, another Mornington Peninsula man, and his brothers, James and Henry, came early in 1845 to squeeze in between Hazelville and Bennett, but he was squeezed out and went on to Genflock (Bellar's Country) and Tabletop (Bellar, or Morewill, I have always thought to be a corruption of Maryville, by pronunciation or a composition. They were numerous and lived in the fifties. Traralgon, according to O'Callaghan "Names of our Railway Stations," means companion. It does not; does it mean the place of ash. It depends very much on pronunciation. Its most likely origin is—the tribe or men of the ash; but it may mean—always, the place of much rain."

THE MICE PLAGUE

An up-country newspaper says that there are millions of mice in the War-racknabeal district, paddocks and haystacks literally teeming with them.

A device for trapping had been used with success at some places in the form of a galvanised iron run, from which the mice could not escape, and in which they were driven into a pit, where kerosene was poured on them and ignited. In this way many hundreds of thousands had been incinerated.

The visitor also noticed that some of the haystacks were heaving because of the movement of mice within.

At night the headlights of cars shone into hundreds of glistening eyes. They were the eyes of owls making a nightly raid on the moving mice. The mice were not merely in thousands, but literally in millions.

is a detailed account of the Jumbuk excursion with a note on its historical significance.

North Eastern Historical Society (Wangaratta) — The declaration of the City of Wangaratta on 15 April 1959 is recorded by Bob Donovan the mayor at the time. Ros Shennan is compiling a biographical Dictionary of the Pioneers of the Ovens and the Townsmen of Beechworth.

Prahran — The society is increasing its subscriptions. In June Dr Janet McCalman will talk on 'MLC, Scotch and others — Our Changing Middle Class'. In July Dominic Meadley will advise on tracing your family history.

Romsey/Lancefield — On 6 August the society will be visiting the RHSV at the Royal Mint following lunch at Gellibrand Park. The thank you lunch on the 9 April was a great success with over 60 guests and a large list of apologies. The occasion helped to ensure that most of the work on Seymour was complete. The successful outcome on negotiations over the Lancefield Court House is reported. Several members of the society are involved in the Romsey Shire History Book Committee. Donations are still required to assist in financing the project and should be sent to Romsey Shire History Book, P.O. Box 11, Romsey 3434.

Sandringham — Robert Barnes was to have talked in May on 'David Collins: The Story behind the myth'. Sixty people participated in the Heritage Week Gipsy Village Walk through Sandringham. A leaflet covering the walk is now available. A plaque was unveiled on the Band Rotunda to commemorate the gift in 1926 of the Rotunda by Dr T. G. S. Leary to the people of Sandringham. The band played while Dr Leary's daughter, Mrs H. Finlay, unveiled the plaque following a speech by the Mayor, Cr M. Hanlin.

Seymour — The society celebrates its Silver Jubilee in June. Crossing Place records the conferment by Colonel Lee-Archer of the Council of the RHSV on J. R. Carroll of the Award of Merit. The Shire President participated in the proceedings because he had been a pupil at Seymour High School where Ray Carroll was the Principal. A letter to England written from Goulburn River in 1855 is reproduced. The society is considering creating a life membership for persons who give meritorious or distinguished service to the society. Ray Carroll contributes a note on the Seymour unit of the Victorian Volunteer Cadet Corps.

Springvale — A second $500 donation was forwarded to the Dandenong Journal microfiche project in Heritage Week. An excellent display of photographs, Olympic medals and trophies loaned by local sporting clubs and private residents illustrated the theme 'Our Sporting Heritage'.

Terang — The Court House is being advertised for 'expressions of interest'. There is a note on Melbourne's first Mayor, Henry Condell.

Traralgon — The Bulletin concentrates on the 1910-1930 era particularly 1914-18. On 4 June. Bill Cuthill of the RHSV Council will perform the book launch of The Rosedale Story by Don Macreadie. In June Kathleen Huffer will relate some of her experiences while teaching during the Depression years. The annual report showed a busy society having an effective year. At the annual meeting Jim Dunbar and Kevin Lythgow give an interesting account of the history of Rotary in Australia. This is reprinted. Silver Jubilee of Traralgon was observed on 7-9 April. The new historic trails brochure has been launched. Local groups have combined to produce a dramatic version of "The Yallourn Story" which is running for two weeks from 25 May until 4 June on select dates. Details from 051 346450.

Warracknabeal — Jack Kent succeeded Graham Massey as President and Velda McCullough took over responsibilities of Treasurer. The Heritage Week bus tour to Katyl-Antwerp was a success as was the Easter Rally which raised at least $4000.

Warragul — The President, Ian Brooks gave interesting details of the day to day life of William St Leger Forrest, an early selector in the Lardner area. Details are given in the Bulletin which also gives an account of the turning on of the gas lights on 23 January 1889. May 9 was the twentieth anniversary of the opening of the society's museum.

Warrandyte — The society's filing system is being brought up to date. It has a number of new items for sale and has acquired additional microfiche records. The society is engaged in negotiations with the City of Doncaster regarding a new home for the museum in the community centre. The newsletter contains a brief history of the Warrandyte Pound from 1854 to 1962.

Warrnambool — The society hopes to show a cine-reel of the premier city in 1923 which it has recovered from the Cinema Club. A successful evening devoted to the earliest memory of Warrnambool was held. The Warrnambool & District Pioneers board has been restored in the Municipal Building foyer. It contains photographs of 204 men together with several water colours. The meeting of the Southern Zone of the WVAHS supported the retention of the Grampians.

Woody Yaloak — Heritage Week was successful partly due to effective local publicity.

W.V.A.H.S. — The following reports deals with societies which have not reported directly: Birchip — On 21 March the historical museum was opened at the old Court house which has been restored with Bicentennial grants. Camperdown — On 23 April a plaque to Dunbar Scott was unveiled and the McCabe residence was open to the public. McCabe who was a well known architect lived in 'Keeyuca' which was built in the early 1900s. Cohuna — The society received a Bicentennial Heritage Award for its historical centre. Donald — Ron Falla received the RHSV Award of Merit from Dr John Lack a member of Council. A special display was mounted during Heritage Week. Horsham — Extracts from a document read by Con Dougherty at the turn of the century were read at the February meeting. He was an early settler in Horsham in 1856. Koroit — The society has been active in producing a heritage trail and relevant brochures with funds provided from its own sources as well as from the RHSV. Murtoa — A Bicentennial Garden has been established. Midlands — Five historic markers have been erected in the Tullaroop Shire. The annual dinner on 19 April heard Wendy Jacobs speak on 'Heritage'. Portland — The group continues to place bronze plaques on historical buildings and sites. Stawell — During Heritage Week the society commemorated the 100th anniversary of the death of Sir William Foster Stawell by unveiling a bronze plaque at the Pleasant Creek Court House. The site of the township of Stawell was proclaimed on 11 June 1858. Terang — The Shire of Hampden has suggested a competition for a town crest to mark the 150th birthday celebrations. Pyramid Hill — The Pyramid Hill Pioneer Machinery Group staged a display of Australiana at the Melbourne Sheep and Wool Craft Show. The display concentrated on articles concerned with the wool industry. Warracknabeal — The society has been able to make good use of a CEP grant to establish a resource centre and train an individual in the use of equipment and material.

The annual meeting was held on 18 March at Kerang. Concern was expressed concerning the disposition of honour rolls in the area. It was decided to apply for incorporation. Venues for future meetings were agreed tentatively as follows: 1990 Terang, 1991 Donald, 1992 Camperdown.

OBITUARY

MR WILLIAM DOBBINSON

The death occurred at Yallourn
Hospital at 10.30 p.m. on Saturday
last of William Dobbinson, Brown Coal Mine.

The deceased had not enjoyed the best of health for some time and was a patient at Yallourn hospital for about three months.

He was highly esteemed by a large circle of friends and was a much respected citizen.

Sympathy is extended to Mrs Dobbinson and her child.

A service was held in the Brown
Coal Mine Church of England, and a large crowd followed the funeral to the Yallourn cemetery.

Hazelwood Rifle Club.

Since the last report, things have not been quite so busy at the Club.
A team from Moe visited the Club
and were beaten by twelve points.

On October 29th the Returned Soldiers paid a visit and overwhelmed
the Club with weight of numbers.
They had 21 men and Hazelwood only had seventeen.

On November 12th some of the members attended a Union Sweepstake meeting and, once again, were in the money.

On December 3rd there will be a trophy shoot, which is expected to draw a large muster. The trophy was kindly donated by Mr C. Hickson, of Yinnar.

The following fortnight will be the annual Christmas shoot, which again should draw a good crowd.
